

A child goes

Missing

in the UK every 3 minutes.

Let's work together to keep children safe.

Recovered

EMCOR Group, Inc. launched the EMCOR Taking KidSafety to the Street™ campaign in the United States with NCMEC (National Center for Missing and Exploited Children) in September 2005. To date 1 in 7 children has been recovered as result of someone recognising the child's photo and notifying authorities.

- Two 14-year-old girls were abducted while walking 12 blocks to a store, and they were taken by their abductors to a closed state park. A county deputy on a routine patrol of the closed park noticed the car, investigated, and rescued the girls.
- A 17-year-old girl was abducted by an ex-boyfriend. She was rescued after her mother received a call from the girl's employer. The mother became alarmed, drove to the work place, and found the abandoned car. The police located and rescued the girl.
- Many of the stories of children recovered have happy endings – although sadly, some do not. But perhaps worst of all for families of missing children are the ending that never come. Thousands of missing children are never located or identified.

But there are victories every day – a 3-year old girl was found after disappearing from her home nearly a year ago. A non-custodial parent had abducted and taken her to a neighbouring state. She was recovered and brought home safely with the help of missing child posters displayed on EMCOR vehicles.

The rapid distribution of a child's photograph can make the difference between a fast recovery and a prolonged search.

If we can help find just one child...

Keeping kids safer is everyone's business. EMCOR not only takes that responsibility to heart, we've taken it to the street. Our vehicles travel roads and highways all over the country, and now our nationwide fleet displays missing child posters from the Police National Missing Persons Bureau. Look out for them—remember the faces—help us make a difference.

Let's work together. Visit www.emcoruk.com/kidsafety for a brochure to distribute within your organisation. Children and their families can also go online and learn about ways to keep safe in public areas and at home. It's our way of being more involved in the communities where we live and work.

Our communities. Our children. Our future.
Taking KidSafety to the Street.™

A three-pronged approach to help find missing kids and promote child safety.

→ On The Streets -

EMCOR's 400+ vehicles traveling throughout the UK act as moving billboards to display dedicated missing children posters bearing the Missing Kids hotline number 0808 100 8777 and website - www.missingkids.co.uk.

→ In Buildings -

The three partners in the initiative - EMCOR, the Police National Missing Persons Bureau and PACT - explore the ways we can assist with the safety of children in the public areas of the thousands of sites EMCOR manages.

→ Online -

The initiative goes on-line at www.emcoruk.com/kidsafety, where the child of the month will be featured along with the information about the programme and a special child safety brochure.

→ “Millions of people visit the facilities EMCOR maintains – from shopping centres and hospitals through to schools, museums and work places – so with EMCOR’s vehicles serving as moving billboards to and from these sites, our hope is that this effort will exponentially increase the chances of finding missing children.”

Tony J. Guzzi

President and CEO, EMCOR Group, Inc.

→ “PACT congratulates EMCOR on this important initiative. This is a major step in getting the public directly involved in helping the police locate missing children.”
