

Ian Meaden

Chief Operating Officer

Ian is EMCOR UK's Chief Operating Officer. He is responsible for leading all the operations of EMCOR UK. He is also responsible for leading our award winning Key Account Management programme, Ian is a great believer in fostering long term sustainable relationships.

Having joined EMCOR UK in 1987 he has held various roles in the business, spanning across construction and Facilities Management with extensive experience across regulated and critical environments, before joining the Executive Leadership Team.

Having worked at EMCOR UK for more than 30 years, Ian is incredibly proud to be part of some of our biggest achievements including our impressive award winning safety record. Above all else, Ian describes his proudest moment at EMCOR UK as 'watching and supporting our people succeed and grow'.

A better world at work for Ian means, bringing incredible service and value to our customers, their employees and in the process keeping ourselves and everyone else we touch safe along the way.

In his spare time Ian enjoys DIY, playing golf, cycling, cooking and spending time running around after his four children.
