

come back with confidence

The challenge

Giving people renewed confidence, as organisations activate new forms of hybrid and face-to-face working and living. Tackling this challenge will demand that leaders reimagine how work is designed and where it is carried out.

For those looking to return to the workplace, now is the time to act, delivering a safe and secure return, that builds employee confidence in the organisation.

EMCOR UK can help you come back with confidence to redefine the world at work

- Implementing Workplace 9 our practical step by step guide to take a strategic approach to deliver a safe return to the workplace
- Helping you to design safe space, and build service models with practical workplace upgrades, created to fully support your teams
- Balancing the supply and demand of workspace through dynamic analysis, driving efficient and effective use of workspace
- Creating easy to use, fluid, agile human-scale workplace solutions: activating dynamic, technology and data-enabled space planning giving you fast paced automated space utilisation solutions
- Designing in calmness and assurance for wellbeing: allowing people to focus on creating positive outcomes through flexibility and choice
- Optimising responsive, agile occupancy management: adapting to real changing demands on workplaces
- Setting clear success measures that monitor what really matters to your people

For many organisations, 2021 will bring their largest ever shift in working and living habits. Success requires a comprehensive, confident and flexible approach, rapidly bringing together a dynamic mix of expertise, insights and proven practical implementation
